Asst Section Officer Hannah Patterson 3259 WAAF

Hannah was born on 24 June 1913 in Blyth, Northumberland, the daughter of Thomas John Patterson and Eleanor Patterson nee Robinson.

Prior to joining the WAAF as a commissioned Section Officer in September 1941, Hannah was employed as a School Teacher at Blyth School, Northumberland, and also volunteered as an air raid warden.

On 23 March 1942 whilst working at the Group Met Office at HQ 4 Group, Yorkshire, Hannah fell seriously ill and was admitted to York County Hospital. Diagnosed with tuberculosis meningitis, Hannah died there on 2 April 1942.

Hannah is buried in Blyth (Cowpen) Cemetery, Northumberland

Hannah is commemorated on Wall Panel 223